

Nassau County Gaming Inquiry Takes New Turn

Charges Against Several Men Said To Be Ready for Report at October Session of Grand Jury

More Leads Developed

Public Officials Declared To Be Involved; Sing Sing Convict Testifies Again

The John Doe investigation into gambling conditions that has set Nassau County agog with excitement was resumed yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Townsend Scudder in Mineola. The hearing lasted all day, but only two witnesses were examined. They were John Shaughnessy, who is awaiting sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of owning a house in which gambling games were played, and Matthew O'Neill, a Sing Sing convict. Neither Justice Scudder nor District Attorney Charles R. Weeks would discuss what took place, but it was said that several important new leads were obtained on conditions in the county.

The investigation is reported to be progressing along four well defined channels, involving bribery, wholesale automobile thefts, officially protected vice and gambling.

Grand Jury to Get Cases

Charges against several men, it is said, will go direct to the grand jury on October 4.

The new leads developed yesterday, it was learned, tend to involve men who have been in public office. It was said that none of the witnesses examined had "squealed," but testified against the confederates. The possibility of indictment for perjury. Such was the explanation of one official, who was plainly elated at the progress of the inquiry.

It is understood that Shaughnessy will appear again early next week, and with him another individual, who is expected to give important testimony.

A dramatic situation is said to have occurred yesterday afternoon, when O'Neill was undergoing examination. O'Neill is serving a seven-year sentence for his connection with the disposal of stolen automobiles. They continued O'Neill. What took place only the officials know.

Inquiry Far From Complete

The inquiry is expected to continue throughout October. Edwin Edwards, Assistant District Attorney of Nassau County, who has been in charge of the gambling investigation, suffered a nervous breakdown and was not to resume his duties for some time. District Attorney Weeks may ask the board of supervisors to appoint another assistant.

Just before yesterday's hearing Deputy Attorney General Wyman S. Rascum, of Washington County, who is conducting an investigation into vice conditions in Saratoga, conferred with Justice Scudder. He had expected to question Shaughnessy, but it was decided that there was nothing in the case to permit a witness in an official hearing. One county to be examined about conditions alleged to exist in another county.

O'Brien Asks for 17 Aids

Law Department Wants $400,000 Increase in Appropriation

The Law Department, in submitting estimates for the 1921 budget yesterday, asks a total of $1,571,155. The allowance this year was $1,177,050. Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien requested appropriations for seventeen additional assistants, with salaries ranging from $3,500 to $7,500, and four new deputy assistants.

Murray Hulbert, Commissioner of the State Department of Social Welfare, in his estimate for the 1921 budget, asks for an increase in the departmental estimate. The total amount asked is $2,719,580, as against $1,476,102 this year. The increase is chiefly for advances in salaries. It does not include funds required for the comprehensive plans for port development.

Weather Report

Local forecast.—Partly cloudy to-day and to-morrow, continued warm, gentle variable winds.

Local official record.—The following official record shows temperatures during the last twenty-four hours in comparison with the corresponding date of last year.

Humidity.

Barometer Readings.

General Weather Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The air pressure is high over Atlantic states and relatively high and clear in the Pacific states and over the western plateau. It is relatively low in the Ohio River valley and the Rocky Mountain region. A disturbance of considerable intensity was centered over northeastern Colorado and moving eastward.

The feature of prominence on the weather chart is the continuation of the normally warm weather over all the principal central growing states of the middle West and in the Ohio and South. The weather has been generally warm and settled, with local showers Saturday and Sunday. In the Rocky Mountain region the upper lake region fair and warm. Weather Saturday will probably be followed by showers and somewhat lower temperature Sunday.

District Forecasts.—Eastern New York and New England, partly cloudy to-day and to-morrow, continued warm.

Richmond Car Franchise Revoked by City Order

Rail Rights Forfeited by Failure to Run Trolleys; Municipal Operation Is Planned

Resolutions were adopted by the Board of Estimate yesterday revoking all the franchises of the Richmond Light and Railway Company, of Staten Island, which operates trolley lines in Richmond Borough. The resolutions were presented by Commissioner William J. of the Department of Public Works and Structures, who pointed out that the ninety-day period required since the company and its temporary receiver had been notified by the city of its forfeiture of its franchises because of failure to provide adequate service had expired.

With the franchises revoked the company cannot operate any cars, but under an injunction of the Federal court the city is prevented from interfering with the company's cars, tracks, etc. The city will now ask the injunction order be rescinded and the city permitted to run cars.

Commissioner Whalen also reported to the board that he has been prepared to operate the Staten Island Midland Railway lines at a five-cent fare within two weeks after the expiration of an agreement with the receiver of the trolley lines; that the agreement, prepared at the direction of the court, had been submitted to the board of directors, for his approval, and that the present system of shuttles operated over the Midland lines by the Richmond Light and Railway Company, with a five-cent fare on each shuttle, was contrary to the statutes of the state.

Commissioner Whalen said that the trolley operation resumed on September 18 on the Midland lines, after they had been idle since January, was not within the statutes.

Hunted as Robber for 5 Years, Man Surrenders

Newark Prisoner Says He Sailed Around World and Served in France

After police had conducted a vain search for him extending five years, John J. Roche, of 117 Francis Street, Newark, walked into Special Sessions, Newark, yesterday and voluntarily surrendered. Roche is accused of robbing a brewery collector of several hundred dollars.

The prisoner told Judge Stickle that he decided to give himself up after hearing that his brother, Thomas Roche, had been arrested and charged with the crime. Thomas Roche was arrested some time ago, but finger-prints showed that he was not the man the police were seeking.

Roche told the court that after the robbery he shipped as a sailor on a vessel bound for England. He has been in every part of the world since then, but he never saw his brother. He was in the war and participated in five battles in France.

He was released without bond to appear Monday for sentence.

Bedtime Stories

Farmer Brown's Boy and the Bees

By Thornton W. Burgess

*When a duty you would shirk
Go watch the busy bee at work.*

—Buster Bear.

Busy Bee never loaf. She doesn't know the meaning of the word "loaf." From early morning to the coming of the Black Shadows, she works hard. You see, she has found out that the greatest happiness in life is found in honest work. And it isn't selfish work. Oh, no! It is work for other people.

Busy Bee doesn't waste any time thinking about herself. All her thought is for the home and the young Bees growing there and those that are to come later. In all the Great World there is no one more unselfish than Busy Bee. And all her sisters are just like her.

Now, Farmer Brown's boy knows this. No one knows it better. He knew that just as soon as Busy Bee should find that honey in the bottom of his little box she would forget everything else and think only of getting that treat back to the home for which she was working. And he knew that she would come back with more and would bring with her a sister just as eager as she for her rich treasure. That is why he left the top off that little box and allowed Busy Bee to go.

It was surprising how fast the news of Busy Bee's find spread in that busy home in a certain hollow tree deep in the Green Forest. As fast as workers came in from other places they were told about that honey in the little box and started after it. In a surprisingly short time there was a double line of Bees going and coming between that little box and the hollow tree.

This was what Farmer Brown's boy wanted and expected. It surprised Buster Bear, but not Farmer Brown's boy. After a while Farmer Brown's boy put the cover on the box and there were several Bees in the box, picked it up and walked straight into the Green Forest in the direction in which the Bees had been flying. Buster Bear stole one behind to see what Farmer Brown's boy would do next.

After going a short distance Farmer Brown's boy stopped, placed the little box on an old log, took off the cover and sat down. At once the Bees which had been prisoners flew out, circled and getting the right direction, flew away. In a very short time they were back, bringing with them what they had been working for. Soon the line of busy workers was started as before.

Then once more Farmer Brown's boy made prisoners of some Bees in the box, picked it up and walked off with it as before. But this time, instead of walking along the direction of the line of Bees, he walked off straight to the right. After going a short distance he let the Bees go as before, and soon he had a line of them flying from the little box to the hollow tree.

Then Farmer Brown's boy left the little box where it was and walked in the direction of this new line. Every few feet he would look up to try to catch a glimpse of the flying Bees. Finally he reached a point where by looking back in the direction of the line of Bees he could see the old log on which he had let the little box before moving it the last time. He had reached a point where the two lines crossed.

"That tree is right here somewhere," said he. "Bees always fly in a straight line. Every time one left my little box with a load of honey she flew straight to her home. Therefore, that home must be right near here."

Then Farmer Brown's boy began looking in the trees for signs of a hollow which the Bees would be likely to use for a home. With his head tipped back he studied each tree in turn. At last a grin ran all the freckles on his face into one big freckle. "Way up in place where the bark has been stripped off. All around it the air was filled with tiny moving specks going to and coming from it. Farmer Brown's boy knew that that tree was a hollow, and that there must be a hole by which the Bees went in and out, for he knew that those moving specks were Bees."

(Copyright, 1920, by T. W. Burgess)

The next story, "Farmer Brown's Boy Continues to Hunt."

Jury Decides Explosion Was No Accident

Inquiry Adjourned Until Monday; Federal Investigators Admit They Have No Clue to Conspirators

Fischer Sent to Bellevue

Ex-Tennis Star Who Warned of Outrage Committed for Observation of Ten Days

The accident theory has been eliminated by the grand jury in its investigation of the Wall Street explosion of September 16. The jury adjourned yesterday until Monday.

William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, and George F. Lamb, local superintendent of the bureau, declared they had failed to ascertain the exact nature of the explosive used by the conspirators.

Mr. Lamb said the government is without any clue that may lead to a solution of the case.

He derided the story about "three rough-looking men" reported to have been seen running from the scene of the explosion after shouting, "Beat it!"

"We have traced down the three men," said Mr. Lamb, "and found them to be three peddlers who were in Wall Street when the explosion occurred. We have also proved that they ran away after the explosion and not before it happened. Apparently they have no connection with the disaster."

Fischer Sent to Bellevue

Edwin P. Fischer, author of the letters of warning issued prior to the explosion, was committed to Bellevue Hospital yesterday for observation by Dr. Minna B. Gregory. The commitment papers were signed by Magistrate Max S. Levine in Yorkville Court, before whom Fischer was arraigned on complaint of his sister, Mrs. Laura Pope, of Forest Hills, L. I.

Fischer, who was taken to the observation ward several days ago without legal proceedings, was brought to court by Detective George E. McCarthy, of the bomb squad, after Mrs. Pope had signed a complaint charging her brother with insanity. Mrs. Pope told the court that her brother had been acting in an abnormal manner and requested that he be subjected to a medical examination. At the hearing, Fischer protested vehemently that he was of sound mind.

"I am anything but insane!" shouted Fischer. "I already have been in Bellevue for five days, and now they bring me here. I protest against this, your honor."

For a moment Magistrate Levine appeared to be impressed by Fischer's protest, but he communicated with Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Talley and told him he did not care to assume the responsibility of setting Fischer free. Mr. Talley informed him that his duty was merely to inform the law requiring the arraignment of a person legally before he can be detained for observation. Magistrate Levine then agreed to sign the commitment papers, assuring Fischer that if after an additional ten days' observation he was found sane he would be released.

At the suggestion of Harold Daniels, of 61 Broad Street, Mayor Hylan yesterday appointed a committee to raise funds for the dependents of the victims of the explosion. In a letter to Mr. Daniels the Mayor wrote:

"The need of a fund for the beneficent purpose you mention is apparent, when we consider that the victims of the Wall Street catastrophe were for the most part, office employees and breadwinners of families, the calamity of whose deaths is made more grievous by the withdrawal of their support."

In accordance with your suggestion, I am to-day appointing a committee to receive and distribute funds for this most laudable cause, on which I would be pleased to have you serve, the membership of which is as follows:

"John R. Ogden, chairman, F. B. Keech & Co., 7 Wall Street; Nathan J. Miller, treasurer, Miller & Co., 120 Broadway; Harold Daniels, of Daniels & Co., 81 Broad Street; Arthur T. Bull, of Post & Flagg, 49 Broad Street; J. W. Harriman, of the Harriman Bank, 111 Broadway; Walter Price, of C. D. Randolph, 111 Broadway; Henry Sanders, of C. D. Barney & Co., 15 Broad Street; Walter Sachs, of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 60 Wall Street; Thomas Denny, of Denny, Pomeroy & Co., 30 Pine Street; C. Buckman, of Pynchon & Co., 111 Broadway."

Six More Indicted

In $20,000,000 Oil Stock Sales

Members of Curb Brokerage Houses Accused of Using Mails to Defraud in Case of Tuxpam Star Company

Members of three curb brokerage houses were named yesterday in an indictment supplementary to one returned in June, 1919, charging the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation, its president, Louis Roumagnac, and Francis Imandi, a tailor, said to be secretary and treasurer of the corporation, with using the mails to defraud investors in oil stocks of more than $20,000,000.

The brokers who pleaded to the supplementary indictment yesterday were James O'Brien, George F. Brown and Frank J. Smith, of James O'Brien & Co., 35 Broad Street; Alexander Low, of Low Brothers, 44 Broad Street, and S. S. Campbell and Nathan McCaffrey, of S. S. Campbell & Co., 20 Broad Street. All six entered tentative pleas of not guilty and were released under bond by Judge William B. Sheppard in the United States District Court.

Low's bail was fixed at $7,500. Bail in the other five cases was set at $3,000 each. Roumagnac and Imandi were already under bail, which was continued.

Postal Inspectors Worked on Case

Postoffice Inspectors Howard B. Mayhew and O. B. Williamson have been investigating the case. As a result of their work it is charged in the indictment that the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation sought, by fraudulent representations concerning itself, and promises of future magnificence, to induce persons to buy shares of its oil stock.

The indictment charges that the claims of the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation to certain oil producing lands in Mexico are false and were known to be so by the oil corporation. It also states that the corporation knowingly misrepresented itself in other ways.

The Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation was organized in June, 1917, in Delaware, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

Details of Stock Allotment

It also was intended, so the indictment says, that when the capital stock was increased to 20,000,000 shares 13,500,000 shares of the corporation were to be sold to the public. The proceeds were to be divided between Roumagnac and Low.

Campbell and McCaffrey, according to the indictment, were to get some of the increased stock to sell and Roumagnac was to receive part of the proceeds. It is also said that O'Brien, Smith & Brown entered into a contract June 1, 1917, for 500,000 shares of the stock.

Tuxpam Star Oil stock has been sold through the country at as high a price as $175 a share.

Boy Said to Have Confessed Murder to Go Back to Prison

After the alleged confession of William Rang, seventeen years old, who said that he had killed Frank Olive, a grocer, of 131 Twenty-third Street, Brooklyn, in March, District Attorney Lewis of Kings County visited the boy yesterday in the Tombs.

Mr. Lewis said that Rang probably would be returned to Hart's Island penitentiary, where he was serving a term for petit larceny when he voluntarily admitted killing Olive to save another boy who had been charged with the crime.

Held as Murder Case Witness

Joseph Grossacker, a chauffeur, of 1369 Thirtieth Avenue, the Bronx, was committed to the Hacksack jail yesterday as a material witness in connection with the murder of Blanche Schatz recently. Her body was discovered in a clump of bushes on the Palisades, near Grantwood, N. J. He will be examined to-day by Hudson County authorities.

me here. I protest against this, your honor."

For a moment Magistrate Levine appeared to be impressed by Fischer's protest, but he communicated with Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Talley and told him he did not care to assume the responsibility of setting Fischer free. Mr. Talley informed him that his duty was merely to inform the law requiring the arraignment of a person legally before he can be detained for observation. Magistrate Levine then agreed to sign the commitment papers, assuring Fischer that if after an additional ten days' observation he was found sane he would be released.

At the suggestion of Harold Daniels, of 61 Broad Street, Mayor Hylan yesterday appointed a committee to raise funds for the dependents of the victims of the explosion. In a letter to Mr. Daniels the Mayor wrote:

"The need of a fund for the beneficent purpose you mention is apparent, when we consider that the victims of the Wall Street catastrophe were for the most part, office employees and breadwinners of families, the calamity of whose deaths is made more grievous by the withdrawal of their support."

In accordance with your suggestion, I am to-day appointing a committee to receive and distribute funds for this most laudable cause, on which I would be pleased to have you serve, the membership of which is as follows:

"John R. Ogden, chairman, F. B. Keech & Co., 7 Wall Street; Nathan J. Miller, treasurer, Miller & Co., 120 Broadway; Harold Daniels, of Daniels & Co., 81 Broad Street; Arthur T. Bull, of Post & Flagg, 49 Broad Street; J. W. Harriman, of the Harriman Bank, 111 Broadway; Walter Price, of C. D. Randolph, 111 Broadway; Henry Sanders, of C. D. Barney & Co., 15 Broad Street; Walter Sachs, of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 60 Wall Street; Thomas Denny, of Denny, Pomeroy & Co., 30 Pine Street; C. Buckman, of Pynchon & Co., 111 Broadway."

Six More Indicted

In $20,000,000 Oil Stock Sales

Members of Curb Brokerage Houses Accused of Using Mails to Defraud in Case of Tuxpam Star Company

Members of three curb brokerage houses were named yesterday in an indictment supplementary to one returned in June, 1919, charging the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation, its president, Louis Roumagnac, and Francis Imandi, a tailor, said to be secretary and treasurer of the corporation, with using the mails to defraud investors in oil stocks of more than $20,000,000.

The brokers who pleaded to the supplementary indictment yesterday were James O'Brien, George F. Brown and Frank J. Smith, of James O'Brien & Co., 35 Broad Street; Alexander Low, of Low Brothers, 44 Broad Street, and S. S. Campbell and Nathan McCaffrey, of S. S. Campbell & Co., 20 Broad Street. All six entered tentative pleas of not guilty and were released under bond by Judge William B. Sheppard in the United States District Court.

Low's bail was fixed at $7,500. Bail in the other five cases was set at $3,000 each. Roumagnac and Imandi were already under bail, which was continued.

Postal Inspectors Worked on Case

Postoffice Inspectors Howard B. Mayhew and O. B. Williamson have been investigating the case. As a result of their work it is charged in the indictment that the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation sought, by fraudulent representations concerning itself, and promises of future magnificence, to induce persons to buy shares of its oil stock.

The indictment charges that the claims of the Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation to certain oil producing lands in Mexico are false and were known to be so by the oil corporation. It also states that the corporation knowingly misrepresented itself in other ways.

The Tuxpam Star Oil Corporation was organized in June, 1917, in Delaware, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

Details of Stock Allotment

It also was intended, so the indictment says, that when the capital stock was increased to 20,000,000 shares 13,500,000 shares of the corporation were to be sold to the public. The proceeds were to be divided between Roumagnac and Low.

Campbell and McCaffrey, according to the indictment, were to get some of the increased stock to sell and Roumagnac was to receive part of the proceeds. It is also said that O'Brien, Smith & Brown entered into a contract June 1, 1917, for 500,000 shares of the stock.

Tuxpam Star Oil stock has been sold through the country at as high a price as $175 a share.

Boy Said to Have Confessed Murder to Go Back to Prison

After the alleged confession of William Rang, seventeen years old, who said that he had killed Frank Olive, a grocer, of 131 Twenty-third Street, Brooklyn, in March, District Attorney Lewis of Kings County visited the boy yesterday in the Tombs.

Mr. Lewis said that Rang probably would be returned to Hart's Island penitentiary, where he was serving a term for petit larceny when he voluntarily admitted killing Olive to save another boy who had been charged with the crime.

Held as Murder Case Witness

Joseph Grossacker, a chauffeur, of 1369 Thirtieth Avenue, the Bronx, was committed to the Hacksack jail yesterday as a material witness in connection with the murder of Blanche Schatz recently. Her body was discovered in a clump of bushes on the Palisades, near Grantwood, N. J. He will be examined to-day by Hudson County authorities.

With the roughest sea for 12 hours

pitching and rolling, we anchor tonight at Marblehead, where in ye olden time the whalers went out on long voyages to supply what the Standard Oil Company now does for us from oil wells from underground.

How very wonderful the changes that have come to pass! How wonderful the Standard Oil Company's operations and the munificent and wise life of John D. Rockefeller, who organized it and whose wisely directed humanitarian work in the use of his fairly earned wealth has placed him first on the list of benefactors to the world.

(Signed)

John D. Rockefeller

September 25, 1920.

In the Auditorium today at 2:30

Quintette of Colored Singers

from our own organization in Plantation and Heart Songs

The ORGAN The AMPICO

First Gallery, New Bldg.

VARIED and Charming Collection of Candelsticks and Glass and Pottery. Au Quatrieme.

Decorative candelsticks of fragile Venetian glass in exquisite color and form and in the sturdy Italian and Spanish pottery with its more vivid colors and beautiful glass, are some of the loveliest things Au Quatrieme.

To bring a touch of flower-like beauty and lightness to the dining room of the country house are large two-branch Venetian glass candelabra piled with flowers or fruit in their natural colors. With tall or short stems. $25 and $30, according to size.

Slim, delicate old candelsticks in clear green and aquamarine and white Venetian glass with simple stem and disc-shaped drip-cup. Price, $5 each.

Lovely taller candelsticks, made with leaf designs curled about their bases and tops, are in antique green, smoked amber, amethyst and rose; $32 for set of four.

Pottery candelsticks in Cantagli were made in the forms of columns with fluted bases and tops modeled with Acanthus leaves or in round columns decorated with ivy vines are in several sizes. Price, $6, $7.50 and $10 each.

Bassano candelsticks with twisted stems and plain bases are in oyster white. Price $5.

Candelsticks of Spanish pottery have twisted stems and are in a lovely vivid blue, a dark blue, turquoise blue and white. Price $7.50 each.

Fourth floor, Old Building.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Rue de la Paix, Paris Broadway at Ninth, New York Telephone Sluyvesant 4700 Store Hours 9 to 5 Washington Arch, N. Y.

Good Morning --- and Good News

With the roughest sea for 12 hours

pitching and rolling, we anchor tonight at Marblehead, where in ye olden time the whalers went out on long voyages to supply what the Standard Oil Company now does for us from oil wells from underground.

How very wonderful the changes that have come to pass! How wonderful the Standard Oil Company's operations and the munificent and wise life of John D. Rockefeller, who organized it and whose wisely directed humanitarian work in the use of his fairly earned wealth has placed him first on the list of benefactors to the world.

(Signed)

John D. Rockefeller

September 25, 1920.

In the Auditorium today at 2:30

Quintette of Colored Singers

from our own organization in Plantation and Heart Songs

The ORGAN The AMPICO

First Gallery, New Bldg.

VARIED and Charming Collection of Candelsticks and Glass and Pottery. Au Quatrieme.

Decorative candelsticks of fragile Venetian glass in exquisite color and form and in the sturdy Italian and Spanish pottery with its more vivid colors and beautiful glass, are some of the loveliest things Au Quatrieme.

To bring a touch of flower-like beauty and lightness to the dining room of the country house are large two-branch Venetian glass candelabra piled with flowers or fruit in their natural colors. With tall or short stems. $25 and $30, according to size.

Slim, delicate old candelsticks in clear green and aquamarine and white Venetian glass with simple stem and disc-shaped drip-cup. Price, $5 each.

Lovely taller candelsticks, made with leaf designs curled about their bases and tops, are in antique green, smoked amber, amethyst and rose; $32 for set of four.

Pottery candelsticks in Cantagli were made in the forms of columns with fluted bases and tops modeled with Acanthus leaves or in round columns decorated with ivy vines are in several sizes. Price, $6, $7.50 and $10 each.

Bassano candelsticks with twisted stems and plain bases are in oyster white. Price $5.

Candelsticks of Spanish pottery have twisted stems and are in a lovely vivid blue, a dark blue, turquoise blue and white. Price $7.50 each.

Fourth floor, Old Building.

Camie

La Confection Francaise

French recipes which have been concocted by French confectionery artists; the daintiness of France in exquisite boxes, and packing make Camie distinctive in the world of the sweets. Made in our own kitchen, supervised by connoisseurs of delicious confections. Chocolates, caramels, bonbons, $2.

Motor entrance at 9th street, Old Building.

A DUVETYN Bag, $3.

Because the manufacturer can no longer afford to make this excellent bag, we took the remaining lot off his hands to sell at this wee price. Frame is of white metal, silver-plated, as is the chain; lining of a mercerized material; contains mirror and purse; colors are brown and elk.

Main floor, Old Building.

Once-a-week Box of Flowers $2

Freshly cut flowers, six to eight varieties—roses, carnations, dahlias, asters, cosmos, gladioli and ferns.

Down-Stairs Store.

BOYS are Beating a Path to the Wanamaker Boys' Shop.